

The UK-GCC Trade Deal

What it actually means for exporters

THE SHORT VERSION

Concluded, Not Live

The UK and the Gulf agreed a free trade deal in May 2026. When it enters force the UK drops tariffs on nearly everything the Gulf exports, and the Gulf on most of what Britain sells.

— BOTH DIRECTIONS

One Deal, Two Doors

- Gulf into the UK: tariffs off nearly everything, day one
- UK into the Gulf: around 93% tariff free, phased over a decade
- The hard part is not the tariffs. It is the market.

THE TIMING

Move Before It Is Live

Building a route to market takes longer than ratification. Position now and you are selling the day the tariffs drop. The rest arrive late.
